

Mainstreaming of Open Science and Digitization of Science

ATTEND THE WEBINAR

THURSDAY
8 FEBRUARY 2024

TIME
10:00 – 12:00 CET

ONLINE WEBINAR
Teams Meeting

CATALISI – LEARNING HUB

AGENDA

Introduction 10:00 AM - 10:15 AM
Welcome and Opening Remarks	APRE
Introduction to the Webinar	EY
Best Practices and Case Studies 10:15 AM - 10:45 AM
Multilingualism as a catalyst for Open Science	Johanna Havemann – Access 2 perspective
Q&A: 10:45 – 11:00
Q&A Session	EY
Best Practices and Case Studies: 11:00 – 11:30
Open science: breaking the ice Providing good information on open science: how can it become a chore for both researcher and data professional	Tycho Hofstra – Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam
Q&A: 11:30 – 11:45
Q&A Session	EY
Closing Remarks and Next Steps 11:45 - 12:00 PM
Concluding Remarks	EY

CATALISI – LEARNING HUB

SPEAKERS

JOHANNA HAVEMANN - Access 2 perspective

With a background in Evolution and Developmental Biology, Johanna Havemann is a trainer and consultant in Open Scholarly Communication Research Project Management. She is also the co-founder and lead coordinator at AfricArXiv – the publishing platform to increase the discoverability of African research accomplishments. With a focus on digital tools for science and her label Access 2 Perspectives, she aims at strengthening globally inclusive science communication and research management through the adoption of Open Science practices.

TYCHO HOFSTRA– Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam

Tycho Hofstra is a data steward at the University Library of the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam. He gives training in Writing a data management plan, research data management and open science. Together with his colleagues from multiple Dutch universities he is part of the G.H.O.S.T. collective, bringing Games of Horror for Open Science Training.