End of the Meeting

Roberto San Salvador del Valle – University of Deusto

Roberto has a diploma in archeology, he has a PhD in Philosophy and Education Science and is a professor at the School and Human Science. Since 2012, he is also a member of the Leisure and Human Development Research Team, an official and recognized research team by the Basque Government. Roberto's initial career is of a markedly disciplinary nature, linked to history and geography. From that period, Those activities remained his permanent preoccupation with the variables of time and space in all my work up to the present day
